Essentials of Leadership in the Workplace

Tuesday 26th June 2018

Course Outline

This short course is ideal for small business leaders/managers and HR professionals keen to make the step up from management to leadership and who wish to understand the difference.

The ACAS framework for effective leadership - why listen to the ACAS take on leadership?

- The ACAS USP on leadership is straightforward. We are not consultants or career coaches, our expertise is in knowing how workplaces tick, what makes people happy and the business a success - in other words, our insights are based upon practical insights. We have also done our own research and listened to our customers.
- The ACAS approach is based upon a shared form of leadership. We see managers at all levels as leaders in an organisation.
- We will use the term 'manager' and 'leader' interchangeably. As you will see, we believe there are differences between managers and leaders at junior and senior levels, but this is largely a question of emphasis.
- Our vision is to make leaders more effective in order to improve productivity, employee well-being and workplace relations
