

Training at Les Cotils

Managing for Life's Events Wednesday 19th September 2018

Course Outline

Managers are taught process and may develop leadership skills, but few are prepared for the more challenging situations they may face.

This short course ties areas of policy, procedure and good practice together, to help managers dealing with colleagues who have issues such as caring, serious illness, loss of family members (or of other colleagues), divorce etc.

The course aims to provide a safe space for delegates to discuss issues they may be facing now.
